RUTGERS FOOTBALL

1960

The Middle Atlantic Conference UNIVERSITY DIVISION

What once was an informal organization of some 40 colleges and universities was divided into three playing conferences commencing in 1958. In the reorganization, Rutgers was included with seven other schools in the University Division of the football league.

Rutgers won the initial race, posting a 4-0 record during the 1958 campaign, when Bill Austin earned All-American honors. Last year, Delaware put together a 5-0 mark to unseat the Scarlet. Rutgers, which bowed to Delaware and Bucknell, finished in a two-way tie for fourth place.

As for 1960, Delaware is the favorite to repeat, despite losing a large percentage of its championship team. Rutgers, starting afresh under John Bateman, is pretty much an unknown quantity, but could finish anywhere from first to fourth. Bucknell, resurging under Bod Odell and expecting big things from a standout freshman group, is a dark horse contender. Lehigh and Lafayette are about on a par.

THE 1959 STANDINGS

Delaware 5-0	Rutgers 2-2
Gettysburg 3-2	Lehigh 2-3
Lafayette 4-3	Muhlenberg 1-2
Bucknell 3-3	Temple 0-5

The Middle Three

Rutgers, Lehigh and Lafayette play annually for possession of the "Little Brass Cannon," symbolic of Middle Three supremacy. The Cannon, donated by Rutgers, was put into competition in 1940. Lafayette last won the cannon in 1955. Lehigh had it in 1956 and 1957, while Rutgers has won it the past two years.

Rutgers, The State University

Rutgers, the State University, began as a struggling colonial college before the Revolution. Founded in 1766 by Dutch pioneers, Rutgers was originally called Queens College under a charter from King George III of England. The young college's existence was threatened by the Revolution, but growth followed that conflict, just as unprecedented expansion was experienced after the last World War.

Rutgers was given its present name in 1825, after generous gifts had been received from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a New York philanthropist. Forty years later it was designated the Land Grant College of New Jersey, the liberal arts course was enlarged, and courses leading to bachelor degrees in agriculture and engineering were added.

In 1902 a ceramics department was established, New Jersey College for Women with its own New Brunswick campus, was founded in 1918; the School of Education added in 1923; and in 1925 the Extension Division for non-degree education and the School of Journalism were established. The College of Pharmacy was added in 1927, University College, degree-granting evening division, was established in 1934, and Newark University was merged with Rutgers in 1946. In 1945, the State Legislature brought all divisions of Rutgers within the designation of the State University of New Jersey. In 1950, an act of the State Legislature incorporated the College of South Jersey in Camden, including a two-year liberal arts college and a law school, into the State University as the Rutgers College of South Jersey. The liberal arts college has since expanded to a four-year curriculum. In April, 1955, N.J.C. was renamed Douglass College. In 1956, under a reorganization program, the University was officially designated, Rutgers, The State University, and came under the management of an 11-man Board of Governors.

The Rutgers Coaching Staff

John F. Bateman, Head Coach

AFTER SPENDING 14 seasons as an assistant coach, first at Columbia and the last three years at Pennsylvania, John Bateman received his first head-coaching portfolio immediately after the 1959 season when John Stiegman resigned to accept the head coaching assignment at Penn.

Bateman is a native New Jersey, having attended Central High School and St. Benedict's Prep before entering Columbia in 1934. At Columbia, he played under Lou Little. A guard, he captained the 1937 Lion team. He returned to Columbia as an assistant under Little, a post he held from 1946 to 1956.

Bateman coached at Middletown, N. Y., High School from 1940 to 1942 and served in the Navy from 1943 to 1945.

The holder of a master's degree in political science and a doctorate in education from Columbia, Bateman is Rutgers 15th football coach since 1900. He and his wife, the former Anita French of Chicago, have three sons. They plan to make their home in Highland Park.

Matthew J. Bolger, Jr., End Coach

BORN AND raised in Newark, Bolger is the lone member of John Stiegman's staff to remain at Rutgers under Bateman. Matt, who was graduated from Cornell in 1948, came to Rutgers in 1956 after serving five years on the staff at Brown University. A graduate of St. Benedict's Prep, he entered Notre Dame in 1940, but service in the Marine Air Corps from 1942 to 1945 interrupted his college career. He transferred to Cornell where he was an outstanding end after leaving the service. Bolger and his wife live in Edison Township. The couple has three children.

DeWayne "Dewey" King, Backfield Coach

A GRADUATE OF the University of North Dakota, Dewey King was associated with John Bateman during the 1957, 1958 and 1959 seasons when both served as assistants to Steve Sebo at the University of Pennsylvania. King met Sebo at Michigan State while serving as freshman backfield coach in 1952-53. A native of Cando, N. D., King was a center at North Dakota, captaining the varsity as a sophomore in 1946. King and his wife serve as resident supervisors in a Rutgers dormitory.

Warren Schmakel, Line Coach

FORMER LITTLE All-American guard at Central Michigan University, Warren Schmakel served as line coach at the University of Nebraska for three years before joining Rutgers staff last December. A native of Toledo, O., Schmakel was an assistant coach at the University of Toledo and Miami University of Ohio and in 1950 had a 6-4 record as head coach at his alma mater. He served four years in the Navy and worked five years in Europe for the government. Schmakel, his wife and two children plan to live in Franklin Township.

Charles Klausing, Freshman Coach

THE ALMOST unbelievable high school coaching record of 83-7-2 belongs to Chuck Klausing, whose teams won 63 consecutive games from 1953 to 1959 at Pitcairn and Braddock High Schools in Pennsylvania. Klausing, who was graduated from Slippery Rock College in 1948, was a guard. He is a Marine Corps veteran. A native of Wilmerding, Pa., Klausing, his wife and their five children live in New Brunswick.

The Forecast — 1960

Lettermen Returning: 23; Lettermen Lost: 11

For the second time in five years, Rutgers is facing a football season with a new coach and a new system without the benefit of spring practice in which to make the adjustment. As a result, it is difficult to assay the 1960 season with any degree of accuracy.

It has been suggested that the shift from the single wing to an unbalanced line T, or double wing T, as John Bateman calls it, can be accomplished without a great loss of efficiency. If this is so, then Bateman's major problems are to overcome inexperience at quarterback and lack of blinding speed at the halfbacks.

However, if the changeover, itself, causes very much unsettling, than the Scarlet may be in for a trying campaign. Especially important in this consideration are the 16 seniors, almost all of whom possibly could fit the new system as regulars. Seniors, schooled in the old system, always are the most seriously affected when a coaching change takes place. How quickly, if ever, this large contingent finds its niche in Bateman's formation will have an important influence on how successful a season Rutgers has.

On past performances, Bateman does not have a standout individual comparable to Bill Austin or Bob Simms. But he can count on a large group of sizeable linemen. There are eight tackles, including four lettermen, over 210 pounds; there are four lettermen at guard, plus some promising sophomores; and Capt. Les Senft heads a center contingent which is bolstered by Alex Kroll, a 22-year-old, 228-pound Army veteran, who can move elsewhere in the forward wall if necessary.

Sophomore help is forthcoming where needed most—at the ends. Fullback appears to be the team's deepest, and perhaps, best position, with seven contenders for the job, including two lettermen.

The battle at the all-important quarterback position will be among Dick Lawrence, Bill Speranza, Sam Mudie and sophomore Bob Yaksick. If at least one of the four can measure up to Bateman's standards, the attack will be off to a good start.

At halfback, the key individuals are Army Byrd, Dick Webb, Pierce Frauenheim and a still sought fourth man, who may be Del Costin, converted end, or Joe Anstatt. With the exception of Byrd, they are hard, rather than fast, runners.

"I'm hopeful that we can solve the quarterback problem early and find two evenly-balanced units," Bateman said. "If we do we should be 'in' every game."

The Scarlet Knights

The 1960 Captain

LESTER SENFT, senior center. Hustle and fight are the chief attributes of Senft, who came from back in the pack last season to win the regular center job. Les gave the backs fits at times with his erratic snap-backs, but figures to be a much more confident player in the T. A graduate of Camden High School, he showed steady improvement as a line-backer last year. Business Administration major.

Ends

PAUL BENKE, senior. An Academic All-American selection last fall, Paul was best-noted for kicking the first two field goals in 17 years for Rutgers. Good pass catcher and blocker, began season on bench, wound up starting. Belvidere High School graduate, member of Student Council, president of senior class. Biological Sciences major.

DON CORY, junior. Don saw limited service in '59, occasionally used to kick off. Lacks speed but could fill reserve position. Showed remarkable development as wrestler last winter. Graduate of Hackettstown High. Mechanized Agriculture major.

WILLIAM CRAFT, sophomore. A reserve with the freshman eleven, Bill has exceptional jumping ability, excellent hands and is very strong. Although only 6-0, is excellent rebounder in basketball. Could earn reserve role. Riverside High graduate. Physical Education major.

LEE CURLEY, junior. An ankle sprain wrote an early finish to Curley's 1959 efforts, although he remained on squad. A '59 frosh regular, his rating is uncertain, but has size to help. Was graduated from Bridgeton High. Majors in Business Administration.

GEORGE DARLINGTON, senior. Noted for his desire and determination, George played behind Bob Simms most of the last two years. Has average pass-catching ability, plays aggressively on defense, was defenseman on lacrosse team. Charleston (W. Va.) High graduate. Physical Education major.

MARVIN ENGLE, junior. Marv had a typical sophomore season, starting several games, making some fine catches, including two for conversions. He's top-ranked at left end, must beat off talented sophomore contenders. Kingston (N. Y.) High graduate. Mechanical Engineering major.

ROBERT FLOWER, sophomore. A former all-league end from Emmaus, Pa., Bob excelled both ways for frosh eleven last fall, is expected to provide badly-needed help at the flanks. Good pass catcher, also did some punting. Physical Education major.

JACK KEEFE, junior. A hustling, aggressive player, Jack never has regained speed he had before he suffered leg injury in high school (St. Peter's, New Brunswick). Was three-sport star in high school. Political Science major.

JOSEPH MARTINAK, senior. Joe is hoping this fall to shake the effects of an injury sustained in 1958 and regain the form which made him freshman captain in 1957. Former all-conference end at Endicott, N. Y., High. Biological Sciences major.

TOM TAPPEN, sophomore. The outstanding end on last fall's freshman squad, Tom is almost a sure-shot to play regularly. If help is needed elsewhere on the line, it's also possible he could be moved providing the veteran ends can do the job. Starred for Delbarton School. Physical Education major.

Tackles

BOB BLANCHFIELD, senior. If Bob can rally from the slump which beset him last fall and regain the aggressiveness he demonstrated in '58, he could be one of the best tackles in the area. Has good speed and agility for big man (6-4½, 230). Butler High graduate. Sociology major.

LARRY DEUTSCH, junior. A jayvee last fall, Larry has size but lacks quickness. Injury forced him out of freshman ball in '58, however, and he may regain mobility needed for reserve assignment. Nazareth (Pa.) High graduate. History major.

PATRICK DILEMMA, junior. Pat was a part-time starter last fall, performing especially well on defense. He was a fullback at Paterson Central High and on the frosh team here, but was shifted to tackle last year. Physical Education major.

JUSTIN "JUD" PAHLS, senior. After a sensational sophomore season, Jud was troubled by minor injuries last fall and his performance fell off. He's hoping for a comeback which could make him one of the east's better tackles. Mahanoy City (Pa.) High graduate. Industrial Engineering major.

JOHN PREGNOLATO, senior. After playing first team freshman guard in 1957, John has been a tackle reserve the past two seasons. A member of the second unit last fall, John expects at least to maintain that status. An Irvington High graduate, he is majoring in Engineering.

SAL SEDITA, junior. Counted on for second string duty last season, Sal suffered a nagging injury and was sidelined most of the year. Healthy again, he could see duty at tackle or guard, where he played as a freshman. Alumnus of Kenmore, N. Y., High. Education major.

TONY SIMONELLI, sophomore. A regular freshman tackle last year, Tony adds his 220 pounds to one of the beefiest tackle squads ever assembled at Rutgers. Barring unusually fast progress in pre-season drills, Tony probably will fill reserve role. Swedesboro High graduate. Education major.

BOB WELCH, junior. A member of the junior varsity last fall, Bob is a graduate of Collingswood High. Slowness afoot hinders him more than anything else. Electrical Engineering major.

BOB WHITE, sophomore. The squad's biggest man, Bob has to keep a sharp eye on his diet to stay near the 240-pound mark. He's 6-5, big-boned, and tends to balloon rather easily. Played regularly with frosh last fall, is potential varsity regular. South River and Peddie graduate. Political Science major.

Guards

ADDISON BRADLEY, sophomore. A solidly built six-footer, Bradley has a real chance to play this fall if he can overcome lack of experience. Has fair speed and good agility, pole vaulted for the frosh track team. Woodrow Wilson (Camden) graduate. Majoring in Agriculture.

GEORGE ELIAS, sophomore. The top-ranking sophomore guard, Elias impressed with his pulling ability last fall and may be utilized to help get the Scarlet backs outside on sweeps. He has good speed and size. Played high school ball in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Business Administration major.

BOB HARRISON, junior. Weighing only 175 pounds, Bob played regularly at guard last fall. On the basis of his great speed, he figures to do a lot of pulling for the Scarlet again this year. Was three-sport star at Connellsville, Pa., High Business Administration major.

JIM HORNER, senior. A line mainstay the past two falls, Jim is a strong, reliable blocker. Has surprising speed and agility for a 5-11, 225-pounder. Quickness is evident when he competes for Scarlet in wrestling. Captained three teams at Paulsboro High. Physical Education major.

TOM KOCAJ, junior. With this shift to guard from the reserve tackle post he held last fall, Tom has made the complete line circuit. As a freshman, he played center and end. He has good speed, hustles, and is in superb conditions always. LaSalle High (Niagara Falls, N. Y.) graduate. Economics major.

BILL LIBBY, junior. Bill reported unheralded as a center last fall, was shifted to guard, and started several games, although generally considered a member of second unit. Dropoff from freshman year weight of 225' to 210 last year gave him added speed. Kenmore High (Buffalo) graduate. Economics major.

FRANK LUGOSSY, senior. A blocking back almost his entire career, Frank must adjust to line play this fall. His speed and solid blocking ability could make him the number one short side guard, despite his 5-8, 180 pound proportions. Also plays lacrosse, was "most improved" last spring. Hamilton High (Trenton) graduate. Physical Education major.

Centers

ALEX KROLL, junior. Rutgers gets unexpected help this fall from this 6-2, 228-pounder who excelled as a Yale sophomore in 1956 before spending two years in the Army. He transferred to Rutgers after forming friendship at Fort Campbell, Ky., with Art Robinson, 1957 Scarlet co-captain. Graduate of Leechburg, Pa. High. English major.

LARRY MAKAREVICH, senior. Larry's best game last fall was against Princeton, when he excelled in a defensive capacity. A former guard and blocking back, he'll have his first shot at a T-center's job this fall. Hackettstown High graduate. History major.

LESTER SENFT, senior. (See beginning of Scarlet Knights section.)

BOB VECCHIO, junior. Bob served with the junior varsity squad last fall after playing regularly in '58 as a freshman. Also plays lacrosse. Is graduate of Port Jervis (N. Y.) High. Education major.

Quarterbacks

(Note: With Rutgers having played the single wing the past four years, none of the quarterback candidates have played this position since high school.)

DICK LAWRENCE, junior. A blocking back the past two seasons, Dick quarterbacked Phillipsburg High in 1957. He's a hard worker, earned starting honors early last fall, although he was relegated to bench later in season. Has good defensive potential, passing is question mark. Physical Education major.

SAM MUDDIE, junior. Sam's running development at tailback last season will make him a threat on roll-outs this fall. A good long passer, he must improve his short game this fall. An outstanding punter, he averaged 38.9 per boot. Also is strong pass defender. Plays lacrosse. Bensalem High graduate (Eddington, Pa.). Mechanical Engineering major.

BILL SPERANZA, junior. A hard runner, Bill hit 50 per cent of his passes last fall and played regularly, although not even listed on pre-season depth chart. Is leading returning rusher, could be moved to halfback. Regular varsity baseball catcher, hit .310. Philipsburg (Pa.) High graduate. Physical Education major.

BOB YAKSICK, sophomore. Bob is the only member of last year's frosh eleven slotted at quarterback. The Clairton, Pa., High graduate was first a fullback and later a tailback for the frosh. Is strong runner, passing needs lots of polishing. Education major.

Halfbacks

(Note: Halfbacks can be referred to as wingbacks.)

GERRY ACANFORA, senior. Gerry has average speed and size, does workmanlike job. Has played with junior varsity last two seasons, could earn reserve role. Mahanoy High (Pa.) graduate. Physical Education major.

JOE ANSTATT, junior. Joe missed eligibility by fraction of point last fall, but played himself into shape in lacrosse. Has good size, fair speed, could win regular job. Glassboro High alumnus. Mechanical Engineering major.

ARNY BYRD, senior. This could be Arny's year for stardom. A slippery runner, he's more suited to the T than single wing. Had great sophomore season in '58, was slowed by ankle sprain most of last year. Excellent defender in secondary. Outfielder in baseball. Camden High graduate. Psychology major.

DEL COSTIN, senior. Inability to hold snaps from center made an end out of Del, who played fullback as a freshman. A strong, fairly fast runner, he has opportunity to help at a position which needs bolstering. Trenton High graduate. Food Technology major.

PIERCE FRAUENHEIM, junior. Pierce saw reserve action at wingback last fall, figures to move into first or second unit this year. Has T-quarterback experience, might be tried there. Fair speed, hard, driving runner. Is reliable secondary defender. Aspinwall High graduate (Pittsburgh, Pa.). Physical Education major.

DICK HIGHLANDER, sophomore. The number one frosh tailback last fall, Dick was plagued by a leg injury. Was outstanding back at Woodrow Wilson High, Beckley, W. Va. Could be moved to fullback. Can throw running pass. Liberal Arts major.

JULES LONGUA, junior. Up from the junior varsity, Julie is rated an excellent receiver. Does not quite rate "speedy" label as runner. Played on state championship Montclair High team. Economics major.

DICK WEBB, junior. A variety of injuries kept Dick hobbled most of last fall. He's a quick, thrusting runner. If he can stay healthy, could be major threat. Also can pass. Ran 440 in track. Has been tailback here and at Nichols School, Buffalo, N. Y. Social Studies major.

Fullbacks

LARRY BROWN, senior. With competition stiffest at this position, Larry could

Rutgers Athletic Administration

REGARDED as one of the best known figures associated with Scarlet athletics, "Rocky" reached a high point in his years of service and devotion to Rutgers in 1954 when he was appointed Director of Athletics, succeeding the late George E. Little, who left the post to give full time to administrative duties as Executive Secretary of the National Football Hall of Fame.

Rockefeller entered Rutgers as an undergraduate in 1912. He starred in football, basketball, and track during his four college years. He became associated with the College of Agriculture immediately after his graduation but left for service with the Army overseas during World War I. After the war, he went into industry for several years, then returned to Rutgers in 1924 as graduate manager of athletics. He was named head football coach in 1927 and in four years his teams won 19 and lost 16 games. In 1930, he resigned as coach in favor of administrative duties.

In 1932, he became head coach of 150-pound football. His lightweight teams were undefeated in 18 games and won Eastern Intercollegiate championships in 1933, 1934, and 1935. He returned again to administration in 1937 but assisted with the varsity ends when Harvey Harman came on the scene in 1938. "Rocky" again took over the varsity reins during World War II.

Albert W. Twitchell, Assistant Director 1935 graduate of Rutgers, Al Twitchell was an outstanding athlete during his undergraduate days, earning All-American honors in both football and lacrosse. After coaching at Sewanhaka High School in Long Island and Hofstra College, he returned to Rutgers in 1937 as assistant coach in lacrosse and 150-pound football. In 1950, he became head lacrosse coach, and served during 1948-51 as varsity line coach. In 1952, he relinquished his football chores to become assistant director of athletics. In the past 11 seasons, his lacrosse teams have won 86 while losing only 31 and tying one.

CUSTODIAN OF EQUIPMENT—John Powers

wind up defensive specialist. Excellent linebacker. Served as blocking back in single wing. Ball carrying ability virtually unknown. N. Miami High (Florida) graduate. Education major.

JOE KOWALSKI, junior. A welcome surprise last fall, Joe was fourth-ranked in pre-season drills, progressed enough to earn letter. Hard, eager worker, has fairly good speed. Plays lacrosse. Johnsonburg, Pa., High graduate. Agricultural Economics major.

STEVE SIMMS, junior. Although he improved late in the year, Steve did not measure up to expectations last fall, a fact attributed to a summer leg injury. Big and strong, he has good open field speed, must start quicker. Brother of Gene ('57) and Bob ('60). Charlestown, (W. Va.) High graduate. Political Science major.

BILL THOMPSON, sophomore. Perhaps the top sophomore back, Bill is the fastest of the fullbacks. A star tailback-fullback at New Brunswick High, he could be used at wingback position if necessary. Was one of leading point-getters on frosh track team. Agricultural Research major.

BILL TULLY, senior. Bill has been close to a regular job the past two years. Had so-so sophomore campaign, seemed ready for number one spot last fall when he was injured. Never got back in groove. Expects to play about 15 pounds lighter this fall. Bloomfield High graduate. Education major.

PRINCETON PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 17; Lettermen Lost: 14

For the first time in many years, sophomores hold the key to Princeton's success. Quarterback, center and end, in particular need help. Although the Tigers have Hugh Scott at tailback, Don Kornrumpf at fullback and Mike Iseman at wingback, plus other promising seniors, they lack standout juniors for reserve strength.

Coach Dick Colman is fairly well satisfied with his interior line, except for center, where the graduated Frank Szvetcz held forth with little help in '59. Princeton expects a big year from tackle John Craig. By November, Colman expects the Tigers to be strong.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 8, Princeton 6

Rutgers scored the first time it had the ball, a 34-yard pass from Bill Wolff to Arny Byrd producing the touchdown and a two-point hook pass from Bill Wolff to Bob Clark accounting for the conversion. From then on, the Scarlet held on against a Princeton team which threatened time and again but managed to score just once—an 80-yard run in the third quarter by Dan Sachs.

Princeton outrushed the Scarlet, 234-74, and gained 76 yards passing to the Scarlet's 51. But Rutgers defenses held in the clutch.

CONNECTICUT PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 14; Lettermen Lost: 15

Two big question marks, center and quarterback, are plaguing Coach Bob Ingalls. The Huskies are without experience at either position, although Ingalls created one problem, himself. In spring practice, he moved Dave Bishop, regular center last year, to quarterback.

The Yankee Conference champions are well fortified at the ends, tackles and fullback and boast two fine running halfbacks in Bill Minnerly and Tom Kopp. Guard may shy of depth. The schedule toughens with the addition of Holy Cross and Buffalo in place of Springfield and Northeastern.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 20, Connecticut 8

Until Sam Mudie and Bill Speranza started clicking on long passes to Bob Simms in the fourth quarter, Connecticut had an 8-6 lead thanks to an 85-yard kickoff return by Bob Horan following a score by Bill Wolff in the first quarter.

A 53-yard Mudie to Simms pass set up a Joe Kowalski touchdown to give the Scarlet a 12-8 lead. Then Speranza connected on a 43-yard pass to Simms for the third TD. In all, Simms caught four passes for 123 yards.

COLGATE PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 16; Lettermen Lost: 8

Coach Alva Kelley, in his second year at Colgate, must rebuild his line and find some help at center in a hurry to get the Red Raiders moving. Of the six starters who were graduated, five played in the interior line.

A lightened scheduled (Lehigh and Buffalo in place of Penn State and Holy Cross) should improve Kelley's chances for a winning season. Capt. John Maloney and Jacque MacKinnon are standout halfbacks who will be joined by a host of top-flight sophomore backs. Kelley is hoping for passing improvement from Ed Abel and Bob Paske.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 15, Colgate 12

For two and a half quarters last year, Rutgers had Colgate reeling, 15-0. But when John Maloney took off on an 80-yard run late in the third quarter, Colgate took heart and had the Scarlet fighting for its life in the final minutes.

Larry Brown tackled Maloney in the end zone for a first period safety and Paul Mullert hit off tackle for a touchdown to give Rutgers an 8-0 first half edge. Then Mullert scampered 47 yards around end for a 15-0 lead in the third period. Passes from Paske and Abel to Ed Ramm and MacQuinnon, respectively, gave the Red Raiders two fourth period touchdowns and Colgate appeared on its way to another when Bill Pulley intercepted a pass on his own 15 to save the day for Rutgers.

BUCKNELL PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 15; Lettermen Lost: 13

With Paul Terhes, its talented do-everything quarterback returning, Bucknell is looking forward to continued improvement under the guidance of Bob Odell. From 1-8 in '58 to 4-5 last year, it's possible this could be a winning season. Terhes is the key player, one of the few seniors expected to play. Problem spots are fullback and end.

The Bisons are strongest at guard, center, quarterback and halfback. Bucknell had an exceptionally strong freshman team and could be the dark horse of the Middle Atlantic Conference if the newcomers produce.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Bucknell 15, Rutgers 8

In one of the big 1959 upsets, Bucknell came from an 8-0 deficit to defeat Rutgers, the Scarlet's first loss in 13 games against collegiate opposition. Terhes was the key figure, intercepting passes, passing to Bill Urch for a score, running 10 yards for another, and holding on the successful field goal attempt by Ron Maslanik.

Rutgers marched for an easy score early in the first quarter, with Paul Mullert carrying over from the 3. Mullert was hurt early in the second half and Rutgers never mounted a sustained drive thereafter. Mullert was sidelined for the year with a hip dislocation.

LEHIGH PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 19; Lettermen Lost: 5

With only one regular missing from last year (Walt Meincke, Little All-American tackle), Lehigh has the size, strength and experience to make 1960 a highly-successful year. The main problem facing Coach Bill Leckonby is a lack of backfield speed to enable his attack to "get outside," and finding a quarterback to make the attack click.

Boyd Taylor, powerful fullback, will cause opponents concern, as will the size of the Engineer forward wall, anchored by tackles Reed Bohovich and Mike Semcheski. Leckonby is hopeful one of three seniors—Bob Scheu, George Theiss or John Highfield can establish himself as the regular quarterback.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 23, Lehigh 0

Rutgers used the air to score three touchdowns while holding the Engineer offense in check with ease. Dick Webb connected with Bob Simms for nine yards and Bill Speranza hit Simms for 15 yards for two second period scores.

Bill Wolff tossed 32 yards to Dick Lawrence for the last six pointer and Paul Benke kicked a field goal from 35 yards out for good measure. Benke's kick was the first Rutgers field goal in 17 years.

VILLANOVA PROSPECTS

Lettermen Returning: 13; Lettermen Lost 17

Coach Alex Bell, heading a new staff completely made up of Villanova alumni, faces a major interior line problem as he attempts to rebuild the Wildcats after last year's disastrous record. Center and tackle, in particular, are shy of experience. At guard, the Wildcats are depending upon two 1959 casualties to recover from winter operations and be available.

Villanova will depend on sophomores to pick up their attack. Nick Langone returns at quarterback and will have help from Richie Richman and Ted Aceto. Halfbacks Billy Joe and Larry Glueck and fullback Lou Rettino are especially promising. End is the squad's best position, with Sam Gruneisen labeled the number one flankman.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 12, Villanova 6

Villanova marched 74 yards in the last 100 seconds last year but with only six seconds to play, quarterback Nick Langone was thrown for a loss by a surging Rutgers line to preserve a Scarlet victory which resulted from an impressive first half. Rutgers scored on a Sam Mudie-Dick Pencek pass and a three-yard off-tackle smash by Bill Wolff to cap 66 and 73-yard marches in the first and second quarters.

Villanova, taking advantage of a short punt, scored on a plunge by Leon Horin in the third period and moved downfield on three desperation passes by Langone in the final seconds to give the game one of the most exciting finishes ever witnessed in Rutgers Stadium.

LAFAYETTE PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 7; Lettermen Lost: 17

With only seven lettermen returning, Coach Jim McConlogue must rebuild around halfbacks Walter Doleschal and Charlie Bartos and hope that center Bob Howard stays healthy if he is to post his third consecutive winning record since taking over the Leopards.

McConlogue's most serious problem will be to find a quarterback. Wayne Cipriani and Merel Bainbridge, who shared the job the past three years, both were graduated. Also missing will be fullback Don Nikles and end Dan Wooten, all-conference players. Lafayette must depend on speed rather than size in the line.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 16, Lafayette 14

After a blocked punt early in the first quarter set up a Don Nikles touchdown and gave the Leopards a 7-0 lead, Rutgers fullbacks took charge, grinding out more than 100 yards up the middle to set the stage for touchdowns by Bill Speranza and Joe Kowalski.

But it was a second period 23-yard field goal by Paul Benke which proved to be the winning points for the Scarlet. For in the final period, the charged-up Leopards marched to a second touchdown on a John Contarino-Dan Wooten pass. An interception by Jim Rogers stalled a later Leopard attempt for the winning score.

DELAWARE PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 14; Lettermen Lost: 17

Although Delaware lost eight starters and 17 lettermen from last year's Lambert Cup and Middle Atlantic Conference championship team, the Blue Hens have ample manpower returning to make them favorites to repeat. Smartly coached by the winged-T expert, Dave Nelson, Delaware is perhaps best represented at the ends, where veterans Dick Broadbent and Mickey Heinecken return. Other stand-outs are quarterback Gary Hebert and halfback Dave Beinners.

Graduated and certainly missed, are backs Jack Turner, John Bowman and Tony Suravitch and center Mark Hurm. The Hens had a powerful freshman eleven and hope to make up for graduation losses with promising sophomores.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Delaware 34, Rutgers 14

From the moment Mickey Heinecken intercepted a pass and returned it for a first period touchdown, Delaware was in control. Although the Scarlet bounced back on a Bill Speranza-Dick Pencek 47-yard pass, to make it 8-6, the Scarlet had no defense for the bull-like rushing of Bowman, Turner, Beinners and Suravitch. Delaware also capitalized on a surprisingly strong passing game for two touchdowns and chalked up 369 yards to 254 for Rutgers.

Turner and Pellegrini tossed scoring passes of 55 and 35 yards in the second quarter and Pellegrini and Bowman ran 1 and 22 yards, respectively, for fourth period scores. Larry Brown ran a pass back 70 yards for Rutgers second touchdown.

COLUMBIA PROSPECTS

Returning Lettermen: 20; Lettermen Lost: 4

Things definitely are on the upswing at Columbia, where Buff Donelli has all except two members of last year's first two teams returning. The major uncertainty is quarterback, where Donelli is counting on Tom Vasell, who excelled against Rutgers last year, to play that way steadily.

Tackle Bob Asack, end Bob Federspiel, guard Tony Radano and center Bob McCool are some of the key veterans who will be joined by standout sophomores like halfback Tom O'Conner, fullback Don Raymond and guard Tony Day. For the first time in many years, Columbia apparently has the size and depth to hold most of its opponents even.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Columbia 26, Rutgers 16

Columbia pulled one of the season's more startling surprises by upsetting the Scarlet last year, 26-16. Key to the victory was containing Rutgers on the ground, giving the Scarlet only 80 yards, while rolling up 269 yards rushing and a total of 412 yards. Harvey Brookins bowed out with 125 yards rushing, including a 35-yard touchdown dash.

The Lions piled up a 26-0 lead on scores by Don Savini, Bob Federspiel and two by Brookins before Bill McGoey and Arny Byrd countered for 16 points for the Scarlet in the fourth period, Byrd taking a 43-yard pass from Bill Wolff.

FOOTBALL'S FIRST GAME

The first official inter-collegiate football game was played on Nov. 6, 1869, between Rutgers and Princeton. There were 25 men on a side and goals, rather than touchdowns were scored. Rutgers won the inaugural, 6-4, with the game played on the site now occupied by the Rutgers Gymnasium.

Although the game was much like rugby, it was the fore-runner of present day football. Soon, Columbia, Yale and other schools began to play and the game pioneered in New Brunswick has become one of the world's most exciting spectacles.

To recognize New Brunswick as football's birthplace, sportswriters, football officials and fans in 1949 selected the city for the location of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. A major drive is expected to be launched this year for funds to construct the building, which will be located several hundred yards north of Rutgers Stadium.

It is interesting to note that William J. Leggett, captain of Rutgers first team, later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church. His counterpart, William Gunnere of Princeton, later became chief justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

Football people are proud that so many of the game's standout players become standout citizens. It is their firm belief that football is one of the prime contributors in molding the character and personalities of our future leaders.
